DEPARTMENT TEAMS IN BASEBALL LEAGUE

Five College Teams Plan Games On Saturdays

The George Washington University Interdepartmental Baseball League was organized and a schedule mapped out at a meeting of the representatives of the colleges on Monday in the athletic room, 2027 G street.

The games will begin Saturday, April 14, and continue for the four Saturdays following. Two games will be played each Saturday, and two baseball diamonds, north of the municipal bathing beach have been reserved by J. Lenovitz, thru the office of public buildings and grounds. Five teams will be represented in the league, Columbian College, Engineering, Law, Medical, and Veterinary. Each team will be charged five dollars as a charter fee to pay for the equipment which will be needed and for a suitable trophy for the championship team.

Mr. Lenovitz, the chairman of the meeting, said: "Since the schedule starts early and so many men are interested in baseball the season should (Continued on page 3)

"OTHELLO" SELECTED

Players Begin Tryouts For Shakespearean Play

"Othello" has been chosen by the G. W. U. Players for the spring play. This is the result of the requests of many of the patrons of the Players for a Shakespearean play.

The try-outs for the parts were held in the A. & S. Assembly Hall Monday night with Dean Wilbur as the judge. Owing to the fact that only a few men were present and that there is still doubt as to who will get several of the girls' parts results cannot be announced until the try-outs that will be held next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the A. & S. Assembly Hall.

There are still a number of male parts to be filled and it is the urgent request of the Players that the men of the University be present next Monday night. Previous experience is not necessary.

Dean Wilbur will give a lecture on Othello to the Players in which he will describe the interpretation which should be placed on the play by the actors and directors. The hand-books will then be out and re-arranged according to the copy of R. D. McLean, the Shakespearean tragedian who played Brutus in William Faversham's spectacle, "Julius Caesar" and who will have charge of the stage direction at the last few weeks of rehearsals.

In the beginning the players will be coached by S. S. Gluck, and he has announced that Prof. De Witt C. Croissant will be asked to assume direction of the play on his return from his southern trip.

The time and place of rehearsals and the place of production of the play will be announced later.

TALK ON JOURNALISM

Practical Newspaperman to Tell of Inside of "Game"

"Vicious Journalism" will be the subject of a talk by S. G. Evans, editor of The Searchlight on Congress, before the journalism class at 1:45 o'clock today in room 31, A. & S. Building.

All students are invited to attend the talk.

FOUR DAVIS PRIZE SPEAKERS

Only four seniors of the Department of Arts and Sciences have submitted their names to Dean Wilbur as contestants for the Davis Public Speaking Contest prizes. They are Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Miss Dorothy Hellman, Miss Theodosia Seibold, and Elmer Kayser.

The contest will be held on the evening of April 10 in the A. & S. Assembly Hall.

New Athletic Director

ROBERT C. MARSHALL,

Director of Athletics Next Year.

"I coach hard football, but clean football," says Robert C. Marshall, of Roanoke, Va., who has been appointed director of athletics for next year.

"I have been told what remains of the team and realize that it will need some building up. I feel quite confident, however, that we will have an aggregation that the University will be proud of."

ELECT COUNCIL SOON

Nominations By Petition Should Be Sent In Soon

Nominations of candidates for Councilman next year should be made by petition signed by tax signers of the department, in which the candidate is a student. These petitions should be sent to the Student Council, care of the Hatchet, 2023 G street. They should also contain a brief sketch of the contestant's activities at the University.

Plans for the election of next year's Student Council were made at the Council meeting Tuesday night in the Law School.

The plan of having the members of each department elected by the tax signers of that department, and having Dean Fraser, chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Activities, appoint from three to five members of the present Council to hold over thru next year will probably be followed. The Faculty Committee will be asked to give its final sanction to this plan at once.

The final call for candidates will appear in the April 6th issue of the Hatchet and the ballot for the election will be published April 13. Council meetings will be held next Tuesday night in the Law School and on April 3 and 10. The faculty will be asked to make the hold-over appointment by April 3.

Most of the evening was taken up by the discussion of who, how, why and what for should athletes receive W's. Bertram Groesbeck, chairman of the Council athletic committee; William S. James, manager of track; Raymond Harsch, captain of track; and Fenton Fadeley, manager of tennis, engaged in an animated discussion of the manner in which the rules for making awards were formulated at the last meeting.

Coach P. B. Morehouse, of the debating team, asked the support of the Council in getting the students to come to the intercollegiate debates of April 5 and 12.

WAR MAY MEAN NO ATHLETICS

In case of the declaration of war which is expected when Congress convenes on April 2, the University may suspend athletics and devote athletic energy to war preparation.

This is the statement of President Stockton. He said, however, that much depended upon the kind of war waged, and that any action taken would be thru the Board of Trustees. Altho Rhesa M. Norris and Elmer Kayser, chairman and secretary of the Council, have signed the contract with Robert C. Marshall as athletic director next year, should war be declared before May 20 and the faculty deem it wise to suspend all athletics at the University on that account, there is a "war clause" in the contract that would allow its abrogation.

PLAN ASSEMBLY FOR ENGINEERING MEN

Engineering Society To Try Novel Scheme For Meeting

Just after the students of the College of Engineering get out of their last late afternoon class on Monday evening at 6 o'clock they will be asked to go to an Engineering Society meeting.

It will not be an ordinary Engineering Society meeting, but a test and first operation of a new scheme for a general assembly of engineering students every month or every two weeks. The first surprise will be a buffet supper to be served by pretty girls under the leadership of Miss Martha McGrew. This will be paid for by the society.

After the engineers have satisfied a portion of the hunger that usually causes them to rush to the nearest lunch room, they will adjourn to the A. & S. Assembly Hall.

For about an hour, from 7:15 to 8:15 o'clock, there will be short talks by Dean Hodgkins, Profs. Dunston, Woodward, Morse and Mr. Halsey, on the new scheme for getting together the engineering students. A moving picture may also be shown.

The plan originated at an informal, impromptu gathering of junior and senior engineering students at an evening drawing period several days ago. It was outlined as follows:

Once a month it is planned to hold a meeting of all students of the College of Engineering to hear students discuss engineering subjects of general interest.

Meetings will be held just after the last afternoon class on Monday evening, in order that all students, including those employed during the day, may attend. The meeting will last for about an hour and will be preceded by a light supper, paid for by the society or by the students at popular prices, according to the finances of the society.

Practically all professors with classes on Monday evening have agreed to dismiss their classes for the short time required.

The plan is the outgrowth of Prof. Dunston's suggestion of a public speaking course made at the Engineering banquet. While not designed to fill that need, if a three credit course in public speaking were established, the meetings would be a valuable testing-ground for the speakers.

AMBASSADOR GUTHRIE DEAD

Was Graduate of the Law School in 1869

One of the most distinguished alumni of the University, George W. Guthrie, Ambassador to Japan has died. He received his LL. B. from the Law School with the class of '69, he died in Tokio from a sudden illness on March 8, at the age of 68.

Summer School Head

WILLIAM CARL RUEDIGER,

Director of the Summer School and Dean of Teachers College.

"Prospects for this year's Summer School seem very good," said William Carl Ruediger, dean of Teachers College, and director of the Summer School. "We are receiving calls for information every day and are looking for an increase of 25 or 50 per cent over last year's total."

Opening last year for the first time in twenty years, the Summer School filled a local and a national need.

TO TEACH NURSING

Efforts of Girls Likely to be Successful

As a result of the plans for a Red Cross nursing unit that were being made by the girls, a course in hygiene and home nursing will probably be established as a part of the regular work of the University.

Altho no official action has been taken as yet, President Stockton stated that the course will probably be established as early as next week.

Whether credit will be given for it or not, has not been officially announced.

President Stockton and Dean Wilbur have had a conference and have written to Dean Borden of the Medical School to see what facilities the Medical School and the Hospital may have for such a course. Day and evening classes are planned so that the women night students may not be left out, and there is a possibility that the courses may commence next week.

Miss Edith Aultman, who started the movement for such a course, desires to have names of all women students, day and evening, with the hours and days that are most convenient for them to take the course, handed to her or to Miss Fay Pierce by Saturday, so that tentative schedules may be worked out. Fifty girls have signed up for the proposed course already.

ALUMNI EDITION NEXT WEEK

The next issue of the Hatchet, that of March 30, will be partially devoted to alumni news and will be sent to all members of the General Alumni Association, in addition to regular subscribers.

It will tell members of the alumni of activities of the association and activities of the school. Last year a similar issue was sent to the alumni. This year's issue will urge members of the alumni to attend the reunion of April 13.

Ogle R. Singleton, Columbian College '08, Law '10, will edit the alumni news of the next issue.

HIGH SCHOOL EDITION SOON

Plans and "copy" for the High School Edition of the Hatchet which will acquaint the seniors of the Washington High School with the University are being prepared. This issue will appear on April 6.

ALL IS READY FOR VAUDEVILLE SHOW

Crowds Are Coming To Show Tonight and Tomorrow

The crowds will be taking a car or a jitney tonight and tomorrow night to the Hatchet Vaudeville Show in the A. & S. Assembly Hall.

FORM RED CROSS UNIT

Intercollegiate Ambulance Corps Organized

More than 300 men of George Washington, Georgetown, and Catholic Universities gathered at the first meeting of the Red Cross Ambulance Corps at the New Willard last Saturday to organize Unit Number 6, which is to be a representative organization of the District.

Dr. Ryan Devereux, of Georgetown University, opened the meeting and explained the purpose of the corps. Eighty-six men and five officers constitute the unit. The officers already appointed are Dr. Nevil Monroe Hopkins and Dr. E. C. Bingham, of George Washington, and Dr. Scott Breckinridge, of Georgetown. Two more commissioned officers are required, and the non-commissioned staff consisting of one first sergeant and eleven duty sergeants. In addition there will be required twenty chauffeurs, two mechanics and the usual quota for first aid work.

Dr. Pace, president of Catholic University, spoke in behalf of that institution and pledged the support of the whole student body to the cause of the country in time of need.

Rev. A. J. Donlon, president of Georgetown, stated that the university which he represented was ready and willing at all times to co-operate to the best interests of the country.

Col. Keane, the head of the Red Cross organization in this country, explained the existence of the Ambulance Corps and the work incident to actual service.

Miss Mabel Boardman gave a brief summary of the work being done by the Ambulance Corps in Europe, and made a brief plea for the support of the colleges in Washington.

Following the meeting a call was issued for recruits, which was as quickly answered. The following men from G. W. enlisted: John B. Zerbe, C. R. King, R. Beck, T. C. Thompson, R. Hollingsworth, J. C. Doyle, L. Bryan, Harold Griffith, Frank Myers, H. D. Shapiro, N. E. D. Russo, Jose Crespo, R. N. Munoz, Paul Vestal.

Altho most of the recruits so far are from the Medical School, membership is not limited to the Medical students. All University students who can pass the medical examination will be accepted. Dr. Bingham, G. W. U. Medical School, will receive applications for enlistment.

The Council

The Council has made many mistakes this year, but then it has done much to help the revival of activities that has taken place in the University this year.

There has been much criticism of this body representative of the students, and some has been deserved.

There has been a woeful disregard of duty on the part of many Councilmen thru their absence from meetings, there has been a large amount of talking thru the hat when there was a majority of the active members present, and many times action was taken on matters without due consideration.

To be elected or appointed Councilman is one of the highest honors that can be earned by a student. The students in the departments whose representatives have not been on the job should see that they are. All students can help by offering constructive criticism of the Council.

The government of student activities is in the hands of the Council. The faculty is perfectly willing for the students to run their own affairs, subject to supervision which will be felt only when things go wrong.

Let the Council get down to business.

More committee work, less free-for-all, endless discussion, more application of rules and less formation of rules, would make a more efficient body.

Engineering Assembly

In mapping out plans for a frequent general assembly of all students in the College of Engineering, the Engineering Society has advanced what seems a workable way of accomplishing an old idea.

"If we can only get the students together," has been the plea of so many about the University. The engineers' scheme may build the bridge to that ideal.

By holding the meeting just after the last afternoon classes, by feeding the hungry students on the spot and not letting them get out of the building, by persuading professors to adjourn classes for the short period of the meeting, the engineers have made a strong bid for success.

With snappy, short talks by the students themselves, on engineering subjects, so presented that even the freshmen can understand, with an occasional lecture by an outsider, or a word of advice from a professor, these assemblies of students should prove not only beneficial to the students, but interesting.

Let us hope that the whole faculty backs the plan as most of its members are now doing. Next year, if this year's meetings work out successfully, it might be worth while compelling attendance at the assemblies.

Other departments, as well as engineering, may find this plan useful in creating a bond between the now isolated groups of students within each department.

Percy Goes Shopping

Dear Joe: The management of the vaudeville show which is to be held tonight, in the A. & S. Assembly Hall, invited me to go along while they did their shopping. First, we went to a store to get some material for a curtain. The managers refused to bite on the first price and the answer was always, "Well, you know what the dye situation is." The man brought out a beautiful vermilion red cloth and said it would make a handsome curtain. We didn't take that because we thought it would make the audience mad and want to go after the actors, but instead we got a vivid green. It is very springy looking. In fact, I suggested the color myself, so you want to buy a ticket, Joe. Next we went for some var-colored hosiery for the minstrels. They had nothing in men's wear, so the foolish clerk wanted to take us to the "ladies' furnishings." Lucky for him when he took us over there, he didn't say, "I wear 'em myself." Anyway, Joe, I believe you will appreciate the color scheme. We went up on Seventh street to look for nice mild shirts for the minstrels which in sound would resemble a bombardment with Krupp guns. Anyway they got them, Joe. We passed numerous stores on upper Seventh, but some were too familiar-looking, while others were too high-toned. Finally we came in front of a small shop, peered thru the doors and saw candles burning brightly way back in the rear. The candles were resting on something white and about them we could see shapes of people moving up and down. "It's a wake," said one of the managers. "Gee, that's fine; let's go in," said the other. We opened the door quietly moved slowly to the rear where the candles burned and there saw what our "wake" was. We found that the Jewish proprietor and his children were having difficulty in maneuvering the spagetti in a position where they could get the biggest mouthful. We then walked slowly back to the door and made a noise as if we just entered. The old man made us wait until he was thru, then he came out. He was about thirty years old, I judge. We told him what we wanted, but finding he didn't have it, he uttered this call: "Oh, mamma, come here." We waited for "mamma." She came in and helped her son to turn the store inside out until finally they found what we desired. That was all of our first-day's shopping, Joe. I'll see you tonight and tell you the rest.

The Enosian Debating Society held its regular meeting last Monday night. The question debated was "Resolved, That all cities having a population of 25,000 or over should adopt the commission form of government."

George L. Bowen and Merle C. Martin composed the affirmative team, while Mr. Huff and Roy T. Thompson upheld the negative. The decision was given in favor of the negative, while individual honors went to Roy T. Thompson.

In addition to the usual program, Ogile R. Singleton, '08, gave an address on "The History and Activities of Enosian."

The Columbian Women are answering George Washington's cry for "more room." They are planning a bridge and garden party to be held in May at the home of Mrs. J. W. Latimer. The proceeds of this party will be used to purchase ground for more buildings for the University. The exact date of the affair has not yet been settled. The location and amount of land to be bought is also undecided.

INTERNATIONAL INDIGESTION

G. W. Girls Are Nurses at Allied Bazaar in Baltimore

Belgian waffles, Russian crass, Italian spaghetti, French pastries and Bohemian buns all nearly caused international indigestion among the G. W. U. girls who served as Serbian Red Cross nurses at the big Allied Bazaar in Baltimore last week.

The delegation returned to Washington at quarter of one Sunday morning to sleep off the effects of hearing twenty languages, four bands, three orchestras and forty energetic share-selling bally-hoos all going at the same time. The girls stayed at the Hotel Rennett and were chaperoned by Mrs. J. H. Metzgerott and Mrs. O. C. Cullen.

The Serbian nurse costumes which the girls wore at the bazaar will be sent to Madame Slavko Grouitch, wife of the Serbian Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Chairman of the Serbian Hospital Fund. Madame Grouitch plans to send them to the base hospitals in Serbia for the use of the nurses there. The girls who "Helped Suffering Europe" were Miss Clara Barclay, Edith Aultman, Gertrude Metzgerott, Louise Lowber, Elizabeth Cullen and Virginia Thigpen.

WANT GIRL COOKS FOR REFRESHMENT CORPS

Would Feed Hungry Soldiers Passing Thru City—Mrs. Larz Anderson in Charge

Wanted at once! Volunteer cooks and waitresses for the Women's Refreshment Corps!

A refreshment corps is an organization of women who meet incoming and outgoing troop trains in time of peace as well as in time of war, with hot coffee, sandwiches, cigarettes, and other good things.

Mrs. Larz Anderson, 2118 Massachusetts avenue, is organizing a Refreshment Corps in Washington, and the recruiting committee, of which Miss Rose Sheridan, 2211 Massachusetts avenue, is chairman, is enrolling all women who will volunteer for this work.

Miss Fay E. Pierce, president of the Women's University Club, is the representative of George Washington University on the recruiting committee. She asks that all women in the University interested in this work hand in their names, addresses and telephone numbers to her as soon as possible, so that the corps may be completely organized for any emergency in the near future. Name slips may be left in the Hatchet office for Miss Pierce. An organization of volunteer women motorists hopes to be able to co-operate with the Refreshment Corps, according to Miss Pierce, so that the transportation of cooks and supplies will be simplified.

SEND OUT 2,500 BLANKS FOR PREPAREDNESS DATA

Compiling Records of Men Students and Alumni Available in War—W. D. Halsey in Charge

Within the next few days, 2,500 letters, containing a war information blank, will be sent to male alumni and students of the University. This will be the beginning of the work of the Intercollegiate Intelligence Bureau in the University under the direction of William D. Halsey, adjutant for the University.

In order to get a complete record of all those connected with the University who are available for war service, these blanks asking whether the person can leave his business in case of war, what special knowledge or training he has had, what military training he has received, and other questions, will be filed at the University after they are sent back to Mr. Halsey with the desired information.

They will be filed according to the fitness of the individuals and will be a record that can be used when the government issues a call to the Bureau for a certain number of specially fitted men.

"Altho many students in the Government have already filled out similar blanks, we want them to fill out the University blank also so as to have our records complete," said Mr. Halsey.

The University is paying the cost of compiling these preparedness records.

Practically every other large university in the country is now engaged in the same work under the supervision of the Intercollegiate Intelligence Bureau which is national in its scope.

TO DISTRIBUTE TICKETS TO INTERFRATERNITY DANCE

Tickets for the Interfraternity dance which is to be held at Rauscher's on April 20, were distributed to delegates at the Interfraternity Association meeting on Tuesday evening. Overcrowding has frequently marred University dances in the past, and so this year the number of tickets for the Interfraternity dance will be limited to 175. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock and continue until 2, the music being furnished by the orchestra that plays for the Willard supper dances, which is generally conceded to be the best dance orchestra in Washington.

Interest In Tennis League For Departments Growing

Interest in the possibility of a George Washington interdepartmental tennis league is growing as the warm weather continues. G. W. students in increasing numbers are seeking the tennis courts and smashing the ball back and forth across the net.

If the students care to organize such a league a schedule can easily be arranged, according to the opinion of Fenton M. Fadeley, manager of tennis.

"Tennis is a sport that almost all students can take part in," he said. "Those who have classes in the late afternoon can do their playing in the morning. With so many tennis players in the University an interdepartmental league should be easy to arrange."

The Student Council, the Columbian Women, and the George Washington Chapter of the College Women's Club have pledged their support to the affair.

Subscriptions for tickets at one dollar a person should be sent to Dean Howard L. Hodgkins, secretary of the association. Harry C. Davis, '94, is in charge of arrangements.

LOSE TO TEMPLE

Will Play Gallaudet Tomorrow—Season Over Soon

The girls' basketball team lost to Temple University by one point last Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. It was one of the most brilliantly-contested games of the season, ending with the score of 16 to 15. So close was the game that G. W. threw a goal from the floor just as the whistle blew and apparently had won, but the referee decided that the goal did not count. Miss "Ted" Seibold was the star of the game. Miss Emma Rich played exceedingly well, and Miss Charlotte Stimpson did good work as guard.

The game with Temple was the first time the Y. M. C. A. gym has been used exclusively for a girls' game. The money secured from the game will be used to help defray expenses of the out-of-town games.

The next game to be held is with Gallaudet in the Gallaudet "gym" tomorrow at 4 o'clock. On April 7 the team will go to Fredericksburg to play the Virginia State Normal School, and on April 14 it will play a return game with the same team on the home floor. This game will end the basketball season.

The permit for the holding of a field day for high school students on the Mall on May 30 has been obtained from the Office of Public Buildings and Grounds. The money that will be made on the vaudeville show will be used to pay the expenses of the celebration, according to plans.

GREEK ARMY GETS AD

Pen-Hellenic "K. D." Storm Grocery and Win

"The Pan-Hellenic on Kitchen Detail" is the title of a kodak picture which procured an advertisement for the 1917 Cherry Tree. Here is another case of the girls of the University storming the fort and walking off with the spoils.

Last Monday an enterprising young lady, armed with a kodak, a blank contract and a fountain pen, and backed by a Greek army composed of one Pi Beta Phi, one Phi Mu, one Sigma Kappa and one Chi Omega, attacked a neighboring grocery store which supplies the provisions for the fraternity girls' lunches. Two snap-shots of the white-aproned clerks arm in arm with the Greek commissary department, one interview with the manager—and the contract was signed. The pictures and the ad will appear in the Cherry Tree.
